Facts that happened during during the 26 seconds:

Ranger Mitchell approaches to drive stun Mr. Lorentz.

Ranger Mitchell pulls the Taser trigger 9 times.

Ranger Mitchell strikes Mr. Lorentz multiple times with his Taser

Ranger Mitchell pulls out his gun during this time.

In Ranger Mitchell's interview on page 9, he reports that he "went in for a drive stun" after the Taser appeared to be ineffective.

point it at him yet. But he saw me draw the Taser and he said, no, you're gonna need that other one. And, uh, I thought about that for a second. It's my contact. I'm in control. It's up to me to decide. So I kept the Taser out and, uh, he just stared at me, fists clenched, looking at me. And, uh, just like I was taught in, at FLETC, you know, if you have pre-assault indicators don't wait around to get assaulted. Take the fight to 'em. So, I deployed the Taser. And I did see one barb go into him. But he just stood there. And, uh, I went in for a drive stun with no effect. So, I don't know, I don't know if there was a clothing disconnect. I don't know, you know, I guess it doesn't matter. Um, but, uh, the drive stun did not work. And I had a second cartridge in there and I thought well, okay, I'll deploy that but I never got that chance. He struck me. And then the fight was on. I was using, he hit me on the left side of my face. That was the first blow that he landed. Um, and, uh, I had already gotten that inclination from him that he had a fixation on my weapon so I was using my right hand to cover my weapon on my right-hand side. And I kind of plated myself towards him with my shoulder and I was taking blows on the left hand, on my left side sort of in the neck, face and shoulder area. Um, he started pushing me. He got me pushed back a little towards where the vehicle was parked, my vehicle. And, uh, I thought that he was trying to push my head into the bumper. That's what it seemed like. He was trying to get me on the ground. And so, I was trying to stay standing and, uh, I was kinda leaning forward into him with my left side. And as he's striking me I felt, I felt his hand reach behind me and he was trying to get his hand on my weapon. So, I had my right hand covering my weapon in the holster and I felt his hand on my hand. He was pulling at it. He was pulling at my hand. Um, so I just pushed down on that weapon even more. So, I do have a Level 2 retention holster. --

Jared Rostro: Mm hmm.

Robert John Mitchell: -- uh, so that helped. Um, when, uh, when that gun grab was unsuccessful he started hitting me in the head with both of his hands. And I knew his hands were off of that. So, I was looking down and I could see his waistline and I drew, you know, at this point he's gonna do anything. He's already tried for the gun.

Jared Rostro: Mm hmm.

Robert John Mitchell: Um, I'm already thinking it's gonna be him or me on this one. And, uh, so, with, with his hands away from my waistline I drew my weapon and I got off a round that I thought was gonna be somewhere around his pelvis, waist area. And, uh, I don't know whether or not I shot him or not. Uh, it didn't seem to have any real impact. Um, at the time that I deployed the Taser I was still trying to decide, you know, is this guy, is he using something? I didn't think he was drunk but something wasn't quite right. He, you know, he already had given me an answer that didn't make a whole lot of sense. Um, he wasn't behaving like most people would behave when they're dealing with the police, you know. I'm sure all of us in this room have had moments where people are like, yeah, okay, I screwed up. It's my fault.

Jared Rostro: Mm hmm.

Robert John Mitchell: You know, it didn't go that way at all. And, um, so anyway, uh, so, I have, I have delivered this first round which may or may not have done anything. But, um, within a couple of seconds he had let go of me and I separated from him. And I'm gonna guess that I was
